Besides this several other schemes, looking towards the establishment of quarters for a permanent Fair in New York, have been suggested, one of which, indorsed by F. B. Thurber, is to erect a big building over the old reservoir in Central Park, and utilizing other waste parts of the park as sites for structures without destroying its beauty or damaging it in any way, but which, it is claimed, would add to its attractiveness as a resort for the public.

Windy City, the unenthusiastic portion of the New York Committee is in favor of winding up matters here as speedily as possible.

There is, however, on the part of the more saguine members of the Committee a strong sentiment in favor of establishing a permanent exhibition in this city, and it is said that active measures will be taken to secure the support of the Executive Committee for such an enterprise at the meeting.

The matter is being actively discussed, and efforts are being made to secure some action upon the proposition. The idea was broached yesterday at the meeting of the trustees of the Downtown Club of the Business Men's Republican Association, and the discussion resulted in the adoption of this resolution:

Resolved, That the Downtown Club of the Business Men's Republican Association of the City of New York favors the holding in this city of an exhibition of arts, industries, manufactures and the products of the soil, mine and sea in the year 1892, in commemoration of the discovery of the New World by Columbus.
